

The school level final competition of the National Geography Bee was held at St. Alexander School on Thursday, January 11, 2007. The participants included a classroom winner from each of the classes in grades 4 through 8.

Competitors included: Nicholas Kuras, Jordyn Czarny, Jacob Soukup, Andrea Dytrych, Jacob Mandes, Alexandra Feldner, P.J. Sullivan, Connor Murphy, Cody Goldman, and Andrew Torossian.

The school winner, pictured with Mrs. Margaret Mraz, moderator of the Bee, was 6th grader Jacob Mandes. He then took a written test and to compete at the state level.

Good luck, Jacob!
